
Keywords, the new filter tool

Posted by brisk - 2006/08/16 11:37

I just thought I would drop a note in here and stress the importance of good keywording. You will find that many agencies are starting to consider the keywords you use when deciding whether to accept or not....

=====

Re: Keywords, the new filter tool

Posted by Mwookie - 2006/08/23 10:28

I agree, be very careful with the words you use. Many times we use keywords that are only "related" in our minds. If there is not a cow in the picture of milk, than you probably should use cow in your keywords.

=====

Re: Keywords, the new filter tool

Posted by nikon - 2006/08/23 10:36

I have had a few messages on Dreamstime and iStock that said (pretty nicely for now) that my keyword have been "adjusted" to match my picture.

I agree, be careful, but don't stop being creative. I try and have 30+ words per photo. No keywords=no search findings.

=====